People in the News

Nora Lopez Promoted to METRO Editor at San Antonio Express News

Nora Lopez was named METRO Editor of the San Antonio Express News earlier this month.

Lopez, 48, who started interning with the San Antonio Express News 25 years ago, is still a believer in newspapers despite what others keep saying about the future of print journalism.

The biggest challenge facing the newsroom is adapting to the changing habits of readers, Lopez said. Many print readers want in-depth coverage, while many Web readers want news fast and in shorter chunks.

Originally from the Rio Grande Valley, Lopez graduated from Pan American University with a bachelor's degree in communication. She worked for the Dallas Morning News from 1993 to 2000 before coming back to San Antonio. Lopez is a member of the National Association of Hispanic Journalists and served on their board from 1999-2003.

Chavez Rodriguez Named Associate Director of Latino Affairs

Julie Chavez Rodriguez is the Associate Director of Latino Affairs and Immigration for the Office of Public Engagement at the White House.

Most recently she served as the Director of Youth Employment at the Department of the Interior under Secretary Ken Salazar. Prior to joining the Administration, Julie served as the Director of Programs for the Cesar E. Chavez Foundation, a non-profit organization, founded in 1993 by the Chavez family to educate the nation about his life and work.

In 2001, Julie helped launch the Chavez Foundation's service-learning programs in Latino communities across the United States. In the nine years she spent with the organization, Julie distinguished herself as an effective program manager, community organizer, and advocate for Latino youth.

Julie earned a bachelor's degree from the University of California - Berkeley and is the granddaughter of UFW founder Cesar Chavez.

Virginia Raymond Teaching in Early College Program

Dr. Virginia Raymond has recently taken a position as an Adjunct Professor of English for Austin Community College in the Early College program of LBJ High School. Raymond earned both her Ph.D and law degree at The University of Texas at Austin.

Limon Moves Over to Austin ISD as Assistant Director

Marisa Limon has been hired as the new Assistant Director of Community Engagement and Multicultural Outreach for the Austin Independent School District.

She leaves the Hispanic Scholarship Consortium after four and half years as its program director. Prior to joining the HSC, she spent seven years as a classroom teacher and helped to create a national professional development seminar through the Alliance for Catholic Education. Limon serves as an advisory board member for the Mexican American Cultural Center and as a mentor at the Ann Richards School for Young Women Leaders.

She is also part of the Austin Independent School District Up Close Program for 2010/2011. A 2008 graduate of Leadership Austin's Emerge Class, Limon is a member of the Association of Fundraising Professionals, the National Association of Latino Arts & Culture and the Young Hispanic Professionals Association - Austin.

Limon graduated from the University of Notre Dame with a bachelor's degree in English and Spanish and holds a Master's Degree in Education from the same university.

Scholarship Fund in the Name of Dr. Janis Guerrero Thompson

Dr. Janis Guerrero Thompson passed away last from cancer. And while she is now gone, she is not forgotten. A number of her friends have come together and established a scholarship fund to honor the work and career of Dr. Guerrero in Austin, Texas. They are asking all those who knew Janis to consider contributing to this scholarship fund.

Janis has devoted a lifetime to the education of children and, particularly, to opening doors of opportunity for students who face challenges while working to realize their dreams.

A graduate of Travis High School and the University of Texas, Janis began her teaching career at Dobie Middle School. She also taught at Austin High School and served in the district's office of Gifted and Talented Education. She served as project director for middle school policy at the Texas Education Agency and as a program director at UT's Dana Center prior to returning to the Austin School District as Executive Director for Planning and Community Relations in 2003.

In addition to her work at AISD, Janis has served our community by serving on the Boards of Directors of Goodwill Industries of Central Texas, GENAustin, Executive Women in Texas Government, and the City of Austin Civil Service Commission.

We ask you to consider contributing to the Janis Guerrero Thompson Scholarship fund, which will award its first scholarship beginning in 2012

You can contribute by contacting Laura Duran at the Hispanic Scholarship Consortium at 512-368-2956. Their address is 1107 S. 8th Street, Austin Texas 78704.

El Año Nuevo

Pues aquí estamos en el año 2012! Happy New Year y todo eso. Esperamos que este año va hacer mejor que 2011. Viendo el calendario, parece que 2012 va hacer un año de muchas actividades y eventos.

Empezando con este mes, tenemos el premier de la película: In Search of the American Dream, which is opens in Las Vegas and Phoenix. This film by Baldemar Rodríguez asks the the basic question, what would you do to keep keep your family together? Expect to see it later in the year in Texas.

In February, El Teatro de Artes Juan Seguin, will be hosting the 8th Annual Viva Seguin Conjunto Festival. If you haven't been to Seguin in a while, you will be very impressed with the activism in this community 30 miles East of San Antonio. In the month of March we will finally see after 10 years in the works, the official unveiling of the Tejano Monument on the ground of the Texas State Capitol. The people behind this project have worked very hard to make this monument a reality and have scheduled a number activities to celebrate this accomplishment. En el mes de abril, tenemos, as far as we know, the 2012 Democratic and Republican Primary Elections. The primaries were pushed back from March because of all the lawsuits and uncertainty over the redistricting maps. See our update in this issue of La Voz.

In May, look for the 31st Annual Tejano Conjunto Festival in San Antonio. Juan Tejeda, the organizer of this annual event since the very beginning, promises to bring together once again some of the best in conjunto music from not only around the state, but from all over the world. Did you know that there are now over 200 conjunto groups in Japan? Did you know that Tejano Conjunto music has spread all over Europe? Check out this festival in May.

Cambiando de Temas

Did you notice the new masthead on the cover of this issue of La Voz? With this issue of La Voz we have made some changes in our business model. First the printers have told us they are changing the size of the paper they are using to print newspapers. Starting with this issue of La Voz, the paper has shrunk in size by two inches. The other change in La Voz is that we are upgrading our website and will be producing a more interactive online version of La Voz using a variety of social media such as Tweeter, Facebook, YouTube. This is part of our effort to change with the times. For our advertisers, there will be no extra charges but there will be a whole lot more visitors and media presence. The last change has to do with the actual printing of La Voz. We have been printing county specific copies of La Voz with shared content. After thinking about it, and considering the number of hours it takes to do each individual layout, we are consolidating La Voz de Comal County, La Voz de Guadalupe County, La Voz de Hays County, and La Voz de Austin into one central Texas publication called La Voz. We will be adding to our print run so that each county will still receive the same number of copies as before. For advertisers, this change will give them a larger geographic base for their products or service.

or working in jobs that do not pay well. There are a lot of people who struggle to pay the bills monthly and wonder how they are going to send their children to school. Despite these concerns, it is important to remember that one is not alone. There are others who share your same worries and frustrations. It is also important to remember that networking and being in contact with people is a good way to discover new opportunities.

Dr. Emilio's Zamora's Father Passes Away in the Valley

Surrounded by his loving family, Emilio H. Zamora passed away at his home in La FERIA and joined the Lord at 11:30 a.m. on Thursday, December 29, 2011. He faced a long illness with dignity and strength, always in the bosom of his family and close friends. The patriarch of a highly respected, extended family that came to include businesspersons, health professionals, and educators, Emilio was always a generous, cheerful, loving, and religious man. He was long heralded for being a caregiver of those in need in our community.

Born on January 13, 1925 in El Horcon, Tamaulipas, Emilio was a descendent of settlers of the border area dating back to Reynosa Viejo during the 1700s. He was born to Estefanita and Rio Rico Police Chief Jose Angel Zamora, both U.S.-born citizens living in El Horcon, a small farming community just south of the U.S.-Mexican border, across from Bluetown. He was the eldest of six siblings. Emilio was sixteen when he became the owner of his first grocery store along the main street of Rio Rico. Four years later, he purchased a larger store in the same bustling border community.

When the floods of 1944 washed out the international bridge at Rio Rico, his store was also destroyed. After a brief stay in the nearby Mexican community of Canales, Emilio moved to La FERIA where he courted Eudelia Solis Gonzales from El Rancho Solis, a farm community between La FERIA and Mercedes. In 1945, Emilio and Eudelia married and lived in El Horcon, while operating a store in Rio Rico. Within a year, the couple moved to El Rancho Solis and began raising a large family. He worked as a Valley-wide distributor for LB Price and then moved to La FERIA where they opened Zamora's Grocery & Market in 1955. He later came to own another store, City Market, two Mexican products distributorships, and numerous rental properties, including Rising Stars Day Care in La FERIA.

During the 1950s, 1960s, and 1970s, Emilio and his family provided financial support to numerous disadvantaged families from La FERIA. He would often pay hospital bills for young families and provide groceries to families who were too poor to buy them. During the many hurricanes that hit the Valley, he would give away groceries and other necessities to large numbers of families temporarily housed in an elementary school across the street from the store. Emilio was a devout member of the Catholic Church's Caballeros de Colon, 4th Degree Knights of Columbus and El Cursillo movement in the Valley. He and his family also served in the Valley Interfaith movement and numerous campaigns to elect Mexican American candidates.

Mr. Zamora is survived by his wife, Eudelia, children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. His son, Emilio Zamora Jr., is a history professor at The University of Texas at Austin.

Judge Declares Ethnic Studies Program Violates State Law in Arizona

An administrative law judge ruled Tuesday that a Tucson school district's ethnic studies program violates state law, agreeing with the findings of Arizona's public schools chief. Judge Lewis Kowal's ruling marked a defeat for the Tucson Unified School District, which appealed the findings issued in June by Superintendent of Public Instruction John Huppenthal.

Kowal's ruling, first reported by The Arizona Daily Star, said the district's Mexican-American Studies program violated state law by having one or more classes designed primarily for one ethnic group, promoting racial resentment and advocating ethnic solidarity instead of treating students as individuals.

The judge, who found grounds to withhold 10 percent of the district's monthly state aid until it comes into compliance, said the law permits the objective instruction about the oppression of people that may result in racial resentment or ethnic solidarity. "However, teaching oppression objectively is quite different than actively presenting material in a biased, political and emotionally charged manner, which is what occurred in (Mexican-American Studies) classes," Kowal wrote. The judge said such teaching promotes activism against white people, promotes racial resentment and advocates ethnic solidarity.

Huppenthal has 30 days to accept, reject or modify the ruling. If he accepts the judge's decision, the district has about 30 days to appeal the ruling in Superior Court. "In the end, I made a decision based on the totality of the information and facts gathered during my investigation — a decision that I felt was best for all students in the Tucson Unified School District." Huppenthal said in a written statement.

The battle over the ethnic studies program escalated shortly after Arizona's heavily scrutinized immigration enforcement law was passed in April 2010. The program's supporters have called challenges to the courses an attack on the state's Hispanic population, while critics say the program demonizes white people as oppressors of Hispanics.

Huppenthal ordered a review of the program when he took office in January after his predecessor, Tom Horne, said the Mexican-American Studies program violated state law and that Huppenthal would have to decide whether to withhold funding. Huppenthal, a Republican, had voted in favor of the ethnic studies law as a state senator before becoming the state's schools chief.

The Time Is Now For East Austin To Stand Up To AISD

By Juan Sanchez,
CEO/EI Presidente
of Southwest Key

Over the years I have watched time and again as the people of East Austin are denied quality education and economic opportunities. This inequity has occurred in a community that is 96% minority, where 30% of families live in poverty and the unemployment rate is three times higher than the rest of Austin.

Today that situation continues with an underperforming high school in the Govalle-Johnston Terrace neighborhood, Eastside Memorial High School (formerly known as Johnston High School). If a school in any other Austin neighborhood underperformed for as long as Johnston, you can be sure that our Austin leaders would have removed the superintendent, but in East Austin where 50% of people don't have a high school diploma, it's business as usual. I ask myself why 58 years after the Brown vs. Board of Education decision this inadequate education is acceptable to anybody.

Some dismiss my criticisms of the education situation in East Austin as purely political in motivation. You see, the nonprofit organization I founded, Southwest Key, is affiliated with East Austin College Prep, a school located in Govalle-Johnston Terrace. Southwest Key and East Austin College Prep have consistently reached out to AISD to partner with them to address the issue of quality education at Eastside Memorial and they have always refused to work with us.

East Austin College Prep is a free, public middle school whose aim is to send 100% of its students to college. Why a middle school? Because Govalle-Johnston Terrace hasn't had a middle school in over 25 years. In fact, Superintendent Carstarphen will tell you herself, as she did in a recent op-ed in the Austin-American Statesman, that the reason Eastside Memorial is "in triage" (her words) is because of the lack of a middle school to feed into it.

When AISD declined to work with us, we took it upon ourselves to build East Austin College Prep

When AISD declined to work with us, we took it upon ourselves to build East Austin College Prep in 2007. From the start, we have involved the community in every decision and asked about their needs. What parents told us they needed for themselves in order to help their kids succeed was ESL, job skills and parenting classes.

They also asked us for after-school programs for the students and their siblings. We listened, and the result is El Centro de Familia and the East Austin Children's Promise, a four year-old community institution that is thriving. East Austin College Prep is embarking on its high school plan in the fall with the addition of a 9th grade, and you can bet every one of those kids is going to college.

In the meantime, the AISD school board decided to contract a charter school from out of town to try to save the forgotten schools of Govalle-Johnston Terrace. That decision was made last month without considering the wishes of the families whose lives their decision directly affects.

It's not my desire to create animosity toward AISD in the minds of those who live in Austin's poorest neighborhood. Rather, what we at Southwest Key and East Austin College Prep aim to accomplish is to empower parents to know they deserve a place at the table where decisions are being made that effect their children. The IDEA plan, which relies on the old formula of outside sources coming in to dictate behaviors, doesn't make that possible for a number of reasons.

The IDEA school board consists of people who do not live or work in Austin, let alone East Austin. IDEA is headquartered in the Rio Grande Valley where they serve a large Hispanic population.

Despite that, their board members and management leadership do not represent a large percentage of ethnic minorities. In essence, the IDEA board is a perpetuation of Austin's historic power structure that has kept the people of East Austin disenfranchised for generations.

Further, the IDEA plan will cost the city millions of dollars. IDEA has requested that 10,000 kids from the district be committed to their schools at a cost of $7,700 a kid. That's close to eighty million dollars. This figure does not include additional costs to the school district such as transportation, facilities, utilities, physical plant, free food, and any extracurricular expenses.

Both the Austin-American Statesmen and the Austin Chronicle have been vocal about the lack of transparency

Both the Austin-American Statesmen and the Austin Chronicle have been vocal about the lack of transparency from the AISD board about their intention to hire IDEA from the very beginning. Sunday, AISD trustees Tamala Barksdale, Annette LoVoi & Robert Schneider concurred in an op-ed published in the Statesman:

Austin deserves more than two months to study and comment on a plan of this importance. It took three years of planning to launch the successful Ann Richards School for Young Women Leaders. Certainly the students of East Austin deserve at least a year of public planning and discussion.

While East Austinites are taxpayers, they've historically had no local entity they can go to for representation. With the implementation of the IDEA plan, that tradition continues as they now have to travel 300 miles away to South Texas to participate in board meetings. In essence, this community is being subjected to taxation without representation.

Ideally, the school district would step up and eliminate the obstacles to education that have persisted in East Austin for decades. That has yet to happen, and we refuse to wait decades more in hopes that it will. East Austin College Prep is working tirelessly to empower East Austin parents to liberate their children's future through quality education.

If my refusal to accept the status quo has made some in the establishment uncomfortable, those who suffer should not be the children of East Austin. Let us rise to the occasion together and stand up for those who do not have a voice in the important issues affecting their own community.

Let us make it known to the board and superintendent of AISD that East Austin will no longer stand to be dictated to without fair representation as if their fates do not matter.

Tejano Monument Becoming a Reality

It has taken more than 10 years of fundraising, lobbying and organizing events but the placement of a Tejano monument on the grounds of the State Capitol in Austin, Texas will become a reality on March 29th, 2012.

On January 13th, 2012, the ground breaking for the monument was held on the Capitol grounds along with a press conference announcing the other events that will take with the unveiling in March. This monument symbolizes the immeasurable contribution that Tejanos have played in Texas history. But it also symbolizes the significance of the Tejano community in the future success of our state.

Armando Hinojosa is the sculptor who was tapped from among four others to bring to life his concept back in 2001. Over the last eight years Hinojosa has worked with the Tejano Statute Committee and the Texas State Preservation Board on the final details for the monument.

Groups and individuals from around the state have also gotten behind this project over the years. They include, Dr. Andres Tijerina, professor at Austin Community College and a noted historian, Dan Arellano, an activist historian, author and community activist best known for his work behind get the Battle of Medina to be recognized by the State of Texas for its historical importance.

The Charter School Debate in Austin, Texas

By now most people know about the Austin Independent School District proposal to launch an in-district charter school in East Austin. The Austin American Statesman and the Austin Chronicle have provided plenty of coverage about the fireworks that have been taking place over the last two months.

Now a group calling itself the Pride of the Eastside has come together to oppose the charter school proposal. They have been meeting and among their members are Austin ISD school teachers, parents, community activists and students from The University of Texas at Austin.

As this issue heats up more we can expect to see what happened in the Daniel Rocha case in 2005. Namely, another community group spotted an opportunity to become the "Go to Mexicans" and stepped forward to give the appearance that they were "real representatives" of the community because they were calm and collected. As this group met and held functions, they deflected the anger and resentment away from the Austin Police Department.

This strategy worked for a while and the folks who were really mad about the killing of Rocha, ended up fading into the background for a while.

Later when the hearings and investigation began, the "Go To Mexicans, which called themselves HABLA, had fizzled out by themselves.

The flyer on the left is one of the first documents coming out of the those who oppose the IDEA public charter school. They are meeting and we can expect to hear more from them in the coming weeks.

AISD Board of Trustees Approve In-District Charter Program with IDEA Public Schools

Austin, TX—Austin Independent School District Board of Trustees voted to establish a college preparatory, in-district charter program with IDEA Public Schools. The proposal is one of six Annual Academic and Facilities Recommendations, five of which the board approved last week on Dec. 12.

The in-district charter program will create a well-articulated kindergarten through 12th grade vertical team in East Austin, so students have access to the same strong academic programming available to students in other parts of Austin.

For the 2012-13 school year, IDEA would offer kindergarten through second grade and sixth grade at Allan Elementary. In subsequent years, IDEA would expand so by the 2018-19 school year, the program would serve Allan students in kindergarten through fifth grade and all students in the Eastside Memorial Vertical Team in sixth through 12th grade. Students who live in the Allan attendance area would have priority for kindergarten through fifth. Any remaining seats would be available to other students in the Eastside Memorial Vertical Team, then to students district-wide through a lottery system.

Students who live in the Eastside Memorial Vertical Team attendance zone would have priority to attend IDEA for sixth through 12th grade. Those who opt out of IDEA will attend Martin in sixth through eighth grades and Travis in ninth through 12th. IDEA would not replace schools, but rather offer alternative programming in existing schools.

In January, the district will begin working with schools and communities to plan for and implement the recommendations for the 2012-13 school year—which also included proposals to expand dual language immersion programs, address overcrowding in north central elementary schools and create an in-district charter to strengthen graduation pathways.

To learn more information about the approved recommendations, visit the Facility Master Plan webpage at www.austinisd.org/FMP.

For more information, please contact the Department of Public Relations and Multicultural Outreach at 414-2414.

"What alarmed me the most is that no accommodations were made for special education students. 5th grade students were being sent to 2nd and 3rd grade classrooms. Imagine how these students felt, and how they were being bullied by their classmates. Several students withdrew because of this." -Hilda Borrego, former IDEA teacher

BOYCOTT IDEA

"When you can pay to advertise during the Super Bowl, you don't need my money"—Former IDEA mom, Cynthia, on a phone call for donations to the school after IDEA told her there was neither money for books nor a playground, but ran an ad during the most expensive televised sports game of the year.

AISD wants to end the life of Allan Elementary by replacing it with an IDEA in-district charter school. IDEA has no plans for bilingual education, special education students, and has no African-American alumni! If IDEA gets their school, all Allan teachers will be replaced, and all their Pre-K and 3rd-5th graders will be placed at Govalle and Ortega Elementary Schools.

YOU CAN STOP IDEA FROM COMING INTO OUR COMMUNITY!

NO CHILD LEFT BEHIND 10TH ANNIVERSARY REPORT

NCLB's Lost Decade for Educational Progress: What Can We Learn from this Policy Failure?

By Lisa Guisbond with Monty Neill and Bob Schaeffer January 2012

The federal No Child Left Behind (NCLB) law failed badly in terms of its own goals, leading to a decade of educational stagnation, according to FairTest's report marking NCLB's tenth anniversary.

Among the report's major findings:

- NCLB failed to significantly increase average academic performance or to significantly narrow achievement gaps, as measured by the NAEP. U.S. students made greater gains before NCLB became law than after it was implemented.
- NCLB damaged educational quality and equity by narrowing the curriculum in many schools and focusing attention on the limited skills standardized tests measure. These negative effects fell most severely on classrooms serving low-income and minority children.

- So-called "reforms" to NCLB, such as "Race to the Top," Obama Administration waivers and the Senate's Education Committee's Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) reauthorization bill, fail to address many of the law's fundamental flaws and in some cases intensify them.

The report also provides recommendations for improving federal education law and policy. Visit: www.fairtest.org to read the report and learn about this organization's work.

Latino Outreach Advice to the RNC: Mute Your Candidates

The Texas Democratic Party released the following statement in response to the RNC's Latino outreach program.

"It'll be difficult for the RNC to convince Latinos that they want them in their party when Republicans don't even want Latinos in this country," said TDP spokesperson Rebecca Acuña. "Unless the RNC mutes their candidates, this will be quite a challenging endeavor. Republicans have been some of Democrats' best surrogates within the Latino community."

The Texas Democratic Party launched the Promesa Project, an aggressive Latino outreach program that will utilize online and grassroots techniques to reach out to young Latinos and ask them to give us their promise , or "promesa", that they will be our Democratic messengers to their families and social networks. Promesa represents an entirely new approach that's based on extensive research. In particular, Texas Democrats built the program around two important findings:

- Today's young Latinos, many of whom are the first in their families to attend college, are increasingly the trusted sources of political information in their families and social circles.
- A study earlier this year found that the internet had surpassed television as the main sources of political information for young people under 30.

The project will combine online outreach with tried and true grassroots techniques like organizing college campuses, utilizing young Party Leaders and elected officials and integrating all data gathered into our voter file for use in Get-Out-The-Vote efforts.

"While our Promesa Project seeks to engage young Latinos and welcome them into the Democratic Party, this Republican effort is little more than an attempt to disguise their blatantly anti-Latino policies," added TDP spokesman Anthony Gutierrez. "When Republicans stop attacking Latinos to score political points and start getting behind commonsense policies like the Dream Act, that's when Latinos can begin to take them seriously."

Latino-outreach efforts of the Republican presidential contenders:

- Mitt Romney promises to veto the DREAM Act, which is supported by 85% of Latinos, and attacked DREAM Act students by saying they're looking for a handout.
- Romney tied himself at the hip with the architect of anti-immigrant state-level immigration laws, Kris Kobach, when he said he would support Arizona's efforts.
- Rick Santorum opposes any path to legalization for undocumented immigrants.
- Newt Gingrich called Spanish the language of the ghetto.
- Rick Perry slashed billions from public education the first year Latinos made up more than 50% of students in Texas public schools. Perry also touted the endorsement of Sheriff Joe Arpaio and named Arpaio chair of his presidential efforts in Arizona.

Consejos para el Comité Nacional Republicano sobre los Latinos: Silencia tus candidatos

El Partido Demócrata de Texas emitió el siguiente comunicado en respuesta al programa del alcance Latino del Comité Nacional Republicano (RNC por sus siglas en ingles):

"Va a ser difícil que el Comité Nacional Republicano convenza a los latinos que ellos los quieren en su partido cuando los republicanos ni siquiera quieren a los latinos en este país", dijo la vocera del partido demócrata de Texas, Rebecca Acuña. "A menos que el RNC silencie a sus candidatos, será bastante difícil que hagan avances con nuestra comunidad. Los republicanos han sido algunos de los mejores sustitutos de los demócratas a la comunidad latina."

El Partido Demócrata de Texas lanzó el Proyecto Promesa, un programa agresivo de comunicación con los hispanos que utiliza técnicas en línea y de base para conectarse con los jóvenes latinos. También les pediremos que nos den su promesa que serán nuestros mensajeros Demócratas a sus familias y redes sociales.

El Proyecto de Promesa toma un enfoque totalmente nuevo que se basa en una investigación extensa. En particular, construimos este programa alrededor de dos importantes conclusiones:

- Los jóvenes latinos de hoy, muchos de quienes son los primeros en sus familias en asistir a la universidad, son cada vez más las fuentes confiables de información política en sus familias y círculos sociales.
- Un estudio de este año encontró que el Internet había superado a la televisión como la principal fuente de información política para los jóvenes menores de 30 años.

"Mientras que nuestro proyecto involucra a los jóvenes latinos y les da la bienvenida al partido demócrata, el esfuerzo de los republicanos es poco más que un intento de ocultar las políticas anti-latinas del partido republicano," agregó el vocero del TDP Anthony Gutiérrez. "Cuando los republicanos dejen de atacar a los latinos para ganar puntos políticos y empiecen a apoyar propuestas como el DREAM Act, entonces los latinos podrán tomarlos en serio."

Los esfuerzos de acercarse hacia los latinos de los aspirantes republicanos a la presidencia:

- Mitt Romney promete vetar el DREAM Act, que es apoyada por el 85% de los latinos. Romney también recibió el apoyo de Kris Kobach, el arquitecto de leyes anti-inmigrantes de los estados.
- Rick Santorum se opone a cualquiera reforma migratoria.
- Newt Gingrich dijo que el español es el idioma del "ghetto."
- Rick Perry recortó billones de la educación pública el primer año que los latinos representaron más del 50% de los estudiantes en las escuelas públicas de Texas. Perry también recibió el apoyo del Alguacil Joe Arpaio y lo nombró presidente de sus esfuerzos presidenciales en Arizona.

1905 East William Cannon Dr. Austin, Texas 78744

Statement from Senator Judith Zaffirini Regarding Texas State University

(AUSTIN) - “Texas State University’s designation as an emerging research university is an important milestone and good news for the largest institution in the Texas State University System. To achieve this goal, Texas State met rigorous criteria exclusive to those institutions that truly have the potential to become nationally recognized research universities.

“In 2009 I first raised the question about whether Texas State should be categorized as an emerging research university. This consideration was obvious, based on the criteria established by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB).

Accordingly, I discussed it with system officials, including regents, the chancellor and the president.

“I was delighted that this year Chancellor Brian McCall and President Denise Trauth followed-up on our discussion by pursuing this goal. I am equally delighted that the THECB agreed.

“Designation as an emerging research institution will allow Texas State to be eligible for Texas Research Incentive Program (TRIP) funding and to consider a future pathway to National Research University Fund eligibility.

“This designation is wonderful not only for Texas State, but also for our state. It underscores the university’s commitment to excellence and highlights the importance of research at institutions such as Texas State that have strong traditions of excellence in teaching.”

En las palabras hay poder

No one can ever argue in the name of education, that it is better to know less than it is to know more. Being bilingual or trilingual or multilingual is about being educated in the 21st century. We look forward to bringing our readers various word lists in each issue of La Voz.

Nadie puede averiguar en el nombre de la educación que es mejor saber menos que saber más. Siendo bilingüe o trilingüe es parte de ser educado en el siglo 21. Esperamos traer cada mes a nuestros lectores de La Voz una lista de palabras en español con sus equivalentes en inglés.

Comisión de Calidad Ambiental del Estado de Texas

AVISO DE RECEPCIÓN DE SOLICITUD E INTENCIÓN DE OBTENER PERMISO ATMOSFÉRICO

PERMISO NÚM. 6048 DEL ESTADO PARA CALIDAD ATMOSFÉRICA

PERMISO NÚM. PSDTX74M2 DE PSD

SOLICITUD CEMEX Construction Materials South, LLC, ha solicitado a la Comisión de Calidad Ambiental del Estado de Texas (TCEQ por sus siglas en inglés) para enmendar el Permiso Núm. 6048 del Estado para Calidad Atmosférica y modificar el Permiso Núm. PSDTX74M2 de Calidad Atmosférica para Prevención de Deterioro Significativo (PSD por sus siglas en inglés), el cual autorizara una planta de producción de cemento en 2580 Wald Road, New Braunfels, Condado de Comal, Texas 78132. Este enlace a un mapa electrónico de la ubicación general del sitio o de la instalación es proporcionado como una cortesía y no es parte de la solicitud o del aviso. Para la ubicación exacta, consulte la solicitud. <http://www.tceq.texas.gov/assets/public/hb610/index.html?lat=29.672777&lng=-98.182222&zoom=13&type=r>. La planta existente emitirá los siguientes contaminantes atmosféricos: óxidos de nitrógeno, compuestos orgánicos, dióxido de azufre, monóxido de carbono, ácido clorhídrico, amoníaco, y materia en partícula incluyendo materia en partícula con diámetros de 10 micrones o menos y materia en partícula con diámetros de 2.5 micrones o menos.

Esta solicitud se le presentó a TCEQ el 29 de diciembre del 2011. La solicitud estará disponible para ser revisada y copiada en la Oficina Central de la TCEQ, en la oficina regional de TCEQ en San Antonio y en la biblioteca pública de New Braunfels en 700 East Common Street, New Braunfels, Condado de Comal, Texas a partir del primer día de publicación de este aviso. El expediente de cumplimiento de la planta, si existe alguno, esta disponible para su revisión en la oficina regional de TCEQ en San Antonio.

El director ejecutivo de TCEQ ha determinado que la solicitud está administrativamente completa y llevará a cabo una revisión técnica de la solicitud.

COMENTARIOS PÚBLICOS / REUNIÓN PÚBLICA Usted puede presentar comentarios públicos, una petición para reunión pública, o solicitar una audiencia de caso impugnado a la Oficina del Funcionario Jefe al domicilio a continuación. TCEQ tomará en cuenta todos los comentarios públicos en la decisión final de la solicitud. Después de la fecha límite para comentarios públicos, el director ejecutivo preparará una respuesta para todos los comentarios públicos.

El propósito de la reunión pública es proporcionar la oportunidad de hacer comentarios o preguntas acerca de la solicitud. Si el director ejecutivo determina que existe un importante grado de interés público con respecto a la solicitud o si lo solicita un legislador local, se llevará a cabo una reunión pública. Una reunión pública no es una audiencia de caso impugnado.

Después de que se concluya la revisión técnica de la solicitud, el director ejecutivo puede preparar un borrador del permiso y puede dar una decisión preliminar con respecto a la solicitud. Se publicará y se enviará por correo un Aviso de Solicitud y Decisión Preliminar para un Permiso de Calidad Atmosférica a aquellas personas que hicieron comentarios, presentaron peticiones para audiencia o se encuentran en la lista de correos para esta solicitud. Ese aviso incluirá la fecha límite para presentar comentarios públicos.

OPORTUNIDAD PARA UNA AUDIENCIA DE CASO IMPUGNADO Usted puede solicitar una audiencia de caso impugnado. Una audiencia de caso impugnado es un procedimiento legal similar a un juicio civil en un tribunal de distrito del estado. A menos que se presente una solicitud para una audiencia de caso impugnado dentro de 30 días de esta notificación, el director ejecutivo puede autorizar la solicitud. Una audiencia de caso impugnado solo se concederá con base a cuestiones debatibles de hechos que son pertinentes y materiales para las decisiones de la Comisión con respecto a la solicitud. Además, la Comisión solo concederá una audiencia sobre cuestiones que se presenten durante el período de comentarios públicos y no se retiren.

Una persona que puede estar afectada por contaminantes de emisiones atmosféricas de una planta tiene derecho a solicitar una audiencia. Si se solicita una audiencia de caso impugnado, debe presentar lo siguiente: (1) su nombre (o para un grupo o asociación, un representante oficial), dirección, número de teléfono y número de facsímil si lo tiene; (2) el nombre del solicitante y número de permiso; (3) la declaración “[yo/nosotros] solicito una audiencia de un caso impugnado”; (4) una descripción específica de como se vería adversamente afectado por la solicitud y emisiones atmosféricas de la planta de manera que no es común para el público en general; (5) la ubicación y distancia de su propiedad con relación a la planta; y (6) una Descripción de como emplea la propiedad la cual puede ser impactada por la planta. Si la petición la hace un grupo o asociación, el miembro o miembros que tienen derecho a solicitar una audiencia y los intereses que el grupo o la asociación busca proteger, también se deben identificar. También puede presentar los ajustes que propone hacer a la solicitud/permiso que pueden satisfacer sus preocupaciones.

Se dará aviso adicional. Si se registra oportunamente una petición para audiencia, después del cierre de todos los comentarios que aplican y los períodos de petición, el director ejecutivo enviará la solicitud y cualquier petición para una audiencia de caso impugnado a los comisionados de TCEQ para su consideración durante la reunión programada de la Comisión. Si se concede una audiencia, el tema de la audiencia estará limitado a casos debatibles de hecho relacionados a intereses pertinentes y materiales de calidad atmosférica que se hayan presentado durante el período de comentarios. Cuestiones tales como valor de la propiedad, ruido, seguridad de tráfico y zonificación no están dentro de la jurisdicción de la Comisión para abordarse en este proceso judicial.
