Through a writer's collective and associated activists, CentroVictoria has organized workshops, readings, conferences and film screenings throughout the state of Texas. Glib and his associates believe that too little has been done in a public institutional way to celebrate and honor what has become the unique contributions of Mexican Americans in this country.

Glib, earned his bachelors and masters degrees from the University of California at Santa Barbara and taught at Texas State University in San Marcos for a number of years. He is the recipient of numerous literary awards including a 1994 PEN/Hemingway Foundation Award. Glib is also the author of a number of books which have won many awards over the years.

Shirley Gonzales Wins District 5 SA City Council Seat

The politicians didn't believe she could do it. They didn't think a first timer could unseat an incumbent. But after the votes were all counted in the June 15th Run Off Election, Shirley Gonzales came out the winner. With a vote of 2,522 to 2,404, Gonzales beat two term incumbent David Medina.

For anyone who stopped by Bill's Pawn Shop on Zarzamora Street, one could not help find Gonzales biggest backer, her mother, Eloise, hard at work campaigning for her daughter. (The pawn shop has been a family business for more than 50 years.) "Por favor, no se les vaya olvidar votar por mi hija Shirley." (Gonzales mother was also one of her biggest financial backers having loaned the campaign close to $46,000 dollars.)

In the end, Gonzales, with the help of political veterans as Choco Meza, Laura Barberena and a host of others, managed to turn back the negative allegations of the Medina camp and came out victorious.

Little Joe y La Familia to Appear in Show for PBS

Grammy-winning acts Little Joe y La Familia, Ruben Ramos and the Mexican Revolution, and Joel Guzman with Sarah Fox are scheduled to appear in one-hour special being produced by KLRU for broadcast later this year on the public television station.

The special is part of a number of KLRU events timed to coincide with the airing of the highly-anticipated PBS documentary series "Latino Americans," on PBS in September.

Taping of the one-hour special, which has the working title "Austin Baile" — a nod to the show's concert and dance format — is set for July 11 at KLRU studios at the University of Texas. A broadcast date has not been set.

"This program will capture the different styles of Mexican-American music and the family atmosphere of the dance halls in which they are performed," said Maury Sullivan, senior vice president for community engagement with KLRU.

Sullivan said the show was conceived in a bit of perfect timing, after a recent conversation between KLRU CEO Bill Stotesbury and music promoter Leonard Davila, both who independently had wanted to do a Tejano music program for some time.

Sullivan said Davila has been a "driving force" in lining up the acts and putting the show together.

Davila, whose Crossroads Events produces the annual Mexican American Experience concert series at the Emma S. Barrientos Mexican American Cultural Center, said he initially envisioned the Tejano special as a project suitable for "Austin City Limits."

That long-running concert series has had Latino acts before, Davila said, "but this is Tejano based." He said he selected the acts because they play "a variety of stuff."

Prior to her appointment, Canales worked as executive director of the Maverick County Development Corporation in Eagle Pass and was an adjunct faculty member for Southwest Texas Junior College.

Pensamientos

In this issue of La Voz we want to call to your attention our feature interview with Juan Tejeda. Juan has been a long time cultural activist in San Antonio and Austin, Texas. In this interview he shares with many of the things is currently involved in and speaks to the new publishing house he is operating with his wife.

The other item we wish to call to your attention is the opening of the new Veterans Clinic in South East Austin. It's official name is the Austin Outpatient Clinic and it is located at 7901 Metropolis Drive Austin, Texas 78744. The clinic will officially open on July 9, 2013.

Item number three which should be of interest to all is the 33rd Annual Mosquito Festival in Clute, Texas. This event has become a huge affair and people come from all over the state to see what the folks in Brazoria County do to celebrate the mosquito.

Another story you should find interesting is the story about the health care plan that is coming down the road. Some people are opposed to the Federal government getting involved in health care. What most people fail to understand is that this health plan is like car insurance. It's about taking personal responsibility for yourself. In the coming months we will hear more and more about this program and how it will affect the entire country.

By popular demand, we have brought back a series called Fechas. Using the vast resources of the State of Texas, we have found many items of interest and bring them to our readers who are not that much into the internet.

En esta edición de La Voz queremos llamar su atención nuestra entrevista con Juan Tejeda. Juan, ha sido un activista cultural en San Antonio, Austin, Texas por mucho tiempo. En esta entrevista, el comparte muchas de las cosas que esta haciendo y habla de su nueva companiaeditorial que lanzo con su esposa.

El otro elemento que queremos llamar su atención es la apertura de la nueva clínica de veteranos en el Sur Este de Austin. El nombre oficial de Austin es la Clínica Ambulatoria y que se encuentra en 7901 Metropolis Austin, Texas 78744. La clínica se abrirá oficialmente el 9 de julio de 2013.

Punto número tres, que debería ser de interés para todos, es la 33ª anual Festival del Mosquito en Clute, Texas. Este evento se ha convertido en un gran fiesta y viene gente de todo el estado para ver lo que la gente en el Condado Brazoria hacer para celebrar el mosquito.

Otra historia usted debe encontrar interesante es la historia sobre el plan de salud que viene. Algunas personas se opongan al gobierno federal y su participación en la salud del individuo. Lo que la mayoría de la gente no entiende es que este plan de salud es igual que el seguro de un coche. Se trata de que uno toma responsabilidad personal de sí mismo. En los próximos meses vamos a oír más y vamos a ver más información acerca de este programa y la forma en que afectará a todo el país.

Por demanda popular, hemos traído una serie llamada FECHAS ". Con el gran cantidad de recursos del Estado de Texas, hemos encontrado muchas cosas historicas que vamos a compartir con nuestros lectores .

Letter to the Editor

A CHICANO VIEW

Diego R. Gallegos, Sr. c/s

Someone much smarter than I once said, “You can fool all of the people some of the time, and you can fool some of the people all the time, but you can never fool all of the people all the time!” which led me to think about the current status of the fight throughout this country on immigrants. That political party that has continuously opposed the immigration of people from south of the border has found themselves two “house-Latinos” who can use their Spanish language surnames and pretend that they can speak for immigrants coming from south of the border. The national media that also includes Univision has put great effort in featuring both Marco Rubio, a Cuban American and Ted Cruz, another Cuban American (although really he was born in Canada) and have casted them as the VOICE of Latinos in the US. The strategy became much more critical after the “Latino” was counted and analyzed to indicate that Obama had garnered more than 70% of the Latino vote nationally. Now, that certainly put a chill down every Republican politician which resulted in having these people tell everyone that some of their best friends were Latino.

In all likelihood, they looked around for help, spotted these two Republican Cuban American and thought, “Hell, they all look alike anyway, so put them to work!” What a stroke of genius! Two guys with nothing in common with the immigrants from south of the border but who shared a Spanish language surname and then, who would notice the difference anyhow! So here we are with these two playing their role as spokesmen for the Latino population. Cruz, the Tea Party rep reacted to the recent Supreme Court decision outlawing the requirement that voters had to show identification In order to vote by coming up with a proposed amendment to make Voter Identification a requirement in the Immigration Bill. Obviously this step is another try at curbing the number of Latinos who will cast their ballots and making it easier for Republicans to stay in office. Rubio, the other Republican Latino super star insists that immigrants wanting to become US citizens get to the back of the line and WAIT! How Long? Would you believe 10 years? One would suppose that when Rubio’s parents came over from Cuba, they had to get in the back of the line and wait 10 or more years to gain citizenship! Echame Otra!

Como dijo mi madre una vez, “Si no somo capiroxada! Hay diferencias importantes!” We may have similar Spanish language surnames, but our views as a people are worlds apart and in spite of all the propaganda and perica that’s hurled at us, “You can’t fool all of the gente all the time!”

Dr. Mariano Diaz-Miranda

YO SOY UNO DE USTEDES

Yo soy un inmigrante que vine a los Estados Unidos como niño a la edad de once años, vine con mi madre y padre—ambos con una educación del sexto grado. El verano que llegue de mi país había terminado el quinto grado y estaba listo para comenzar el sexto en el otoño siguiente. Pero al comienzo del año escolar me mantuvieron en el quinto grado porque no hablaba inglés adecuado.

Afortunadamente, llegue a este país con fuerte conocimiento de matemática y geografía. Por ese conocimiento, junto con la rapidez que aprendí el lenguaje durante el verano, igual que la mayoría de los niños inmigrantes que vienen a esta tierra, me promovieron rápida mente al sexto grado.

Yo fui a la preparatoria, y también igual que muchos de nuestros jóvenes, no la termine. El no terminar la prepa cerró muchas puertas de oportunidades para mí, lo cual hirieron a mis padres. Por un par de años hice trabajos de poca importancia, cambiando del uno al otro hasta que enliste en las fuerzas armadas. Ser miembro de las fuerzas armadas es también otra realidad que comparto con muchos en nuestra comunidad.

En las fuerzas armadas empecé a ganar confianza en mí, y supere los trabajos asignados. Aquí, en las fuerzas armadas fui promovido delante de todos aquellos cuales yo creía que eran mejores que yo. También encontré que yo tenía la habilidad de aprender rápidamente y enseñar otros, y por eso me hicieron maestro. Cuando me separe de las fuerzas militares con honor, inmediatamente me matriculé en la universidad local. Aunque yo no tenía diploma de la preparatoria y tampoco un GED (las siglas en inglés para el diploma de equivalencia de la preparatoria), fui aceptado a la universidad por mis notas en el examen de entrada (ACT).

Termine mi bachillerato, mi maestría, y mi doctorado en filosofía en la Universidad de Texas. Me fui de nuestra ciudad a enseñar en la Universidad de Rhode Island, pero regrese a Austin porque sentí que este es el lugar donde debo estar.

Ahora me encuentro en Austin Community College (ACC), donde he estado los últimos veinte y siete años. En el 1995, fundé el Latino/Latin American Studies Center al cual le di el sobrenombre de “El Centro”. El Centro se ha concentrado en extender sus brazos a nuestra comunidad y a abrirle las puertas de ACC para ayudarles con su educación. El Centro es localizado en el Riverside Campus en Montopolis donde siempre estarán recibidos como familia. Como se dice en nuestra cultura “Mi Casa es su Casa”, así es como nos sentimos en El Centro. Más que nunca nosotros creemos que Austin Community College es la institución que abrirá puertas para que miembros de nuestra comunidad empiecen sus carreras universitarias.

I AM ONE OF YOU

I am an immigrant that came to the United States as an eleven-year-old child, with my mother and father both only having a sixth-grade education. The summer when I arrived, I had completed the fifth grade in my country and was to start the sixth at the beginning of the new school year. Instead, that first fall in the United States, I was kept in the fifth grade because I did not speak English well.

Fortunately, I brought with me two academic strengths—Math and Geography. Because of this knowledge together with the fast pace at which I learned the language during that summer, the same as all young immigrant children that come to this land, I was quickly promoted to the sixth grade in which I belonged.

I attended High School, and similarly to many young people in our community, I dropped out. My being a High School Dropout closed many doors for me, and deeply hurt my Mom and Dad. I bummed around for a couple of years doing menial work, and going from one job to another until I went into the armed forces. Enlisting in the military is also a reality that I share with many in our community.

In the military I gained confidence, and excelled at the tasks I was given. Here, I was promoted ahead of those folks who I believed were better than me. I also found that I had an ability to quickly learn and teach others and I became an instructor. As soon as I was honorably discharged I enrolled at the local College. Even though I did not have a High School diploma or a GED, I was accepted to college on my ACT scores.

I completed my Bachelors' degree, my Masters' degree, and then my Doctor of Philosophy degree at the University of Texas. I left our city to teach at the University of Rhode Island, but I eventually I returned to Austin because I felt this was the place where I belonged.

Now I am at Austin Community College (ACC), where I have been for about the past twenty-seven years. In 1995 I created a Latino/Latin American Studies Center which I also nicknamed “El Centro”. El Centro has concentrated its efforts on reaching out and opening ACC's doors to the people in our community. El Centro is located at the Riverside Campus in Montopolis where you will always be welcome with open arms. Just as we say in Spanish, “Mi Casa es su Casa”, that is how we feel at El Centro. More than ever, we believe that Austin Community College is the gateway for the members of our community to succeed.

Pensamientos de Ernesto Nieto, Jefe del National Hispanic Institute

It use to be that in our state of Texas, only people of significant wealth were the ones seen as having the background to govern, up until the time of Dolph Briscoe in the middle and late 1970s and Bill Clements in the 1980s.

Then big time business interests became the prime investors, selecting candidates who could best represent their needs and agendas, supporting running horses like Perry. Of course, most of the legislature reflects the prevailing attitude. Big time investors in the backgrounds of Texas politics determine they wish to run for governor, Lt. governor, land commissioner, etc.

They look over the herd and make sele...ctive choices. Color means nothing to them or gender, provided that their selected candidates can deliver the goods....establishing a right and left are the ways of creating division and tension among the voting masses, making them believe that their votes count for something...the fight never ends, the game is never over...at the end of the day, the faces and interests behind the scenes win...the voter is the audience, including those in the gallery who pay smaller amounts to boo and applaud the gladiators in the public arena, separating what they feel is the good and the bad....while the backroom people continue to count their winnings at the expense of the rest...

Faculty Profile

Carol Jeffries-Horner

Carol Jeffries-Horner did not plan on a career in higher education. She did not aspire to become a professor or serve as a department chair or lecture on computers and databases. Jeffries-Horner wanted to teach music.

She started playing piano in her youth, became a classically trained clarinetist, performed in high school and thought it would be cool to be a band director. After earning a bachelor's in music education and graduating magna cum laude from Baylor, Jeffries-Horner followed her dream.

But after three years of teaching junior high band in Richardson, Horner reconsidered her career plan. "I loved teaching and music, and I loved working with kids," she says, "but I didn't care for other parts of the job. So I decided to leave."

An MBA seemed like a good idea. A career in international business sounded intriguing. So Jeffries-Horner enrolled at the University of Texas at Arlington. Her life spun around when she took an out-of-the-blue call from the chair of the Information Systems

Department. "Carol, would you like to be a graduate assistant?"

She asked the obvious: Why would you want a musician in the computer department? The chair was fascinated with the idea of working with someone not in the field.

"I took the job," Jeffries-Horner recalls, "and within about a week and a half, I knew I wanted to do this computer stuff."

Some 20 years and two postgraduate degrees later, Jeffries-Horner has become a distinguished professor at Our Lady of the Lake University, chair of a highly-acclaimed department, Computer Information Systems and Security (CISS), and interim dean for the School of Business.

OLLU is recognized as a National Center of Academic Excellence in Information Assurance Education by the National Security Agency and the Department of Homeland Security, one of an elite group of universities nationwide to receive the designation.

"The graduate program has just boomed," Jeffries-Horner says,

"and we've moved it online."

Jeffries-Horner really enjoys connecting people to technology. "It's either helping students learn how to do that or seeing the students make that connection themselves," she says. "And so the light bulb turns on. 'Oh I get it!' And they connect to it in a way that allows them to incorporate it into their lives."

Jeffries-Horner's students have taken that connection into their careers. Her former students work for Rackspace, the National Security Agency, CPS Energy, Valero, USAA, and military and government contractors, to name a few organizations

Gritten keeps Gonzales loyal to Mexico

July 7th, 1835

On this day in 1835, the Municipality of Gonzales passed resolutions of loyalty to Mexico, thanks to the influence of the mysterious Edward Gritten. Gritten, supposedly an Englishman and a long-time resident of Mexico, first visited Texas in 1834 as secretary to Juan N. Almonte.

During July and August 1835 he worked to restore confidence between the Texas colonists and the Mexican government. He urged Mexican authorities to adopt conciliatory measures, assuring them that most Texans were law-abiding Mexican citizens. He was chosen as a commissioner to visit Martín Perfecto de Cos to explain the pacific attitude of the mass of the colonists.

On the way to Matamoros, Gritten met a courier from Domingo de Ugartechea with orders to arrest William B. Travis and other Texans. Gritten hastened to Bexar and attempted to persuade Ugartechea to revoke the orders, but he refused. Gritten remained at Bexar as mediator between Ugartechea and the colonists and identified himself with the Texas cause.

In December 1835 the General Council elected Gritten collector of the port of Copano, but Governor Henry Smith refused to sign the commission because he considered Gritten a spy. The last information found concerning Gritten is a receipt for money paid him by the government in October 1836 for his services as a translator.

Mexican folk hero shoots Brownsville marshal

July 13th, 1859

On this day in 1859, Juan Nepomuceno Cortina shot Brownsville city marshal Robert Shears, who had brutally arrested a former employee of Cortina's, and set off what became known as the first Cortina War.

Cortina, born in Tamaulipas in 1824, moved with his wealthy family to the Brownsville area while he was still a child. There he came to hate a clique of judges and Brownsville attorneys whom he accused of expropriating land from Mexican Texans unfamiliar with the American judicial system. He became a hero to many, though he was indicted at least twice by a Cameron County grand jury for stealing cattle.

Several months after shooting Shears, Cortina rode back into Brownsville at the head of forty to eighty men and seized control of the town. John Salmon (Rip) Ford and Robert E. Lee were among the military leaders who became involved in the subsequent conflict. Finally, in December 1859, Cortina retreated into Mexico.

After Texas seceded from the Union, he reappeared on the border and started the second Cortina War. In May 1861 he invaded Zapata County, but was defeated by Santos Benavides and again retreated into Mexico. In 1871 the Texas legislature denied a petition seeking Cortina's pardon because of his service to the Union during the Civil War, and stockmen in the Nueces Strip accused him of heading a large ring of cattle rustlers. Subsequent American diplomatic pressure led to Cortina's 1875 arrest and removal to Mexico City. He died in 1894.

German-language paper founded in San Antonio

July 15th, 1865

On this day in 1865, August Siemering founded the German-language Freie Presse für Texas in San Antonio. Siemering, born in Germany in 1828, came to Texas in 1851 and later opened the first public school in Fredericksburg. He was an ardent Republican and abolitionist, though he had been impressed into the Confederate army in 1861, and the Freie Presse became known as one of the leading Republican newspapers in the South during Reconstruction.

A few months after founding the paper, Siemering also founded the English-language San Antonio Express, in which the prominent Republican journalist James P. Newcomb bought an interest in 1867. Siemering sold the Express in 1877 and died six years later. The Freie Presse ceased publication in 1945.

Don Pedro Jaramillo

July 3rd, 1907

On this day in 1907, Pedro (Don Pedrito) Jaramillo, curandero or "faith healer," died in South Texas. He was born of Tarascan Indian parents near Guadalajara, Jalisco, Mexico, in the mid-nineteenth century. He moved to South Texas as a young man in 1881 and settled on the Los Olmos Ranch, in the area of what is now northern Brooks County.

He later related that when he was still a poor laborer in Mexico he suffered an affliction of the nose. One night he was in such pain that he went out into the woods to a pool of water. He lay down and buried his face in the mud at the edge and remained there for three days. When he had cured himself he returned to his house and fell asleep.

A voice awakened him and told him that he had received the gift of healing from God.

He began his practice as a faith healer almost immediately, prescribing the first thing that he thought of and making no charge for his services. At that time the only doctor between Corpus Christi and Laredo lived in San Diego; therefore, Don Pedrito's powers were often sought.

At first he treated only close neighbors, but soon he began visiting ranches throughout the region between the Nueces River and the Rio Grande. Dressed as a Mexican peasant, wearing heavy shoes, a sombrero, and a cowboy vest, he either walked or rode a donkey on his healing missions. As his fame spread, an increasing number of patients came to his home. Most were poor Mexican Americans, and often Don Pedrito would provide the remedies he prescribed.

He bought food in wagonloads and kept his storeroom well stocked. More than $5,000 in fifty-cent pieces was found at his home when he died. Don Pedrito never married, but he adopted two boys. He was buried in the old ranch cemetery near Falfurrias. His resting place has become a shrine and is visited by several hundred persons yearly. A biography of him, Don Pedrito Jaramillo: Curandero, was written in Spanish by Viola Ruth Dodson and published in 1934.

THANK YOU SPURS

FOR A GREAT SEASON

The Spurs may have not won the NBA finals, but they unified San Antonio in a very special way. During the playoffs Spurs fever was everywhere. From the AT&T Center to living rooms across the city, fans sat on the edge of their seats as our hometown heroes represented us so well during each game.

From Spurs doughnuts to Spurs day at work, we as a community came together to cheer and support our team, the San Antonio Spurs.

I am proud of the Spurs for their wonderful season, and I am sure it will not be the last time they make it to the finals.

City of San Antonio and the San Antonio Spurs, Thank You...

I feel they just ran out of gas but I'm grateful for the season they had and love the class and pride they possessed in their defeat.

Juan Gutierrez

I felt strongly that we were not going to win the 7th game because the team was so physically and emotionally exhausted after the 6th game and it takes time to recover from all that intensity. Friends kept telling me not to lose hope but I thought they were trying to be optimistic with a little apprehension. It was so sad to see our team so down after the end of the last game. I'm still heart broken but I am and always will be a Spurs Fan. GO SPURS GO!!!!

Book: La Jornade De Joaquin (in Spanish)

The murder mystery novel has as a setting a historical "migrant" route between South Texas and Michigan which was traveled by hundreds of thousands of migrant farm workers beginning in the late 1940's and having its greatest number of travelers during the late 1960's. That migrant stream still continues as farm workers travel to Michigan and Indiana to perform farm labor. Many of the locations used in the novel are set in South Texas.

This novel seeks to interest native Spanish readers, many of whom are young adults and middle-aged adults in the United States and who do not have access to materials in Spanish. One of the subtexts in the novel incorporates the ambiguity of young immigrants from south of the Rio Grande who do not have a command of the English language and who feel alienated from the rest of American society. This is certainly a topic of interest among that immigrant population.

Latinos are the largest minority group in the United States and their influence on several issues greatly affect the direction of this country. Author Jim Estrada explains how Latinos have influenced the United States over the years in his new book

The ABCs & Ñ of America's Cultural Evolution Book.

In his book, Estrada says he wrote the book because there wasn't a handy reference book for people who want to know more about the growing Hispanic population. He says that the target audience for his book is non-Hispanic teachers, marketers, politicians, law enforcement, journalists, etc., as well as young Hispanics, Latinos and mestizos — who were not adequately informed or educated about the history and contributions of the Hispanic population.

Much of the history of Mexican American educational reform efforts has focused on campaigns to eliminate discrimination in public schools. However, as historian Guadalupe San Miguel Jr. demonstrates in Chicana/o Struggles for Education: Activism in the Community, the story is much broader and more varied than that.

While activists certainly challenged discrimination, they also worked for specific public school reforms and sought schooling opportunities, utilizing new patterns of contestation and advocacy. In documenting and reviewing these additional strategies, San Miguel's nuanced overview and analysis offers enhanced insight into the quest for equal educational opportunity to new generations of students.

San Miguel addresses questions such as what factors led to change in the 1960s and in later years; who the individuals and organizations were that led the movements in this period and what motivated them to get involved; and what strategies were pursued, how they were chosen, and how successful they were. He argues that while Chicana/o activists continued to challenge school segregation in the 1960s as earlier generations had, they broadened their efforts to address new concerns such as school funding, testing, English-only curricula, the exclusion of undocumented immigrants, and school closings. They also advocated cultural pride and memory, inclusion of the Mexican American community in school governance, and opportunities to seek educational excellence in private religious, nationalist, and secular schools.

The profusion of strategies has not erased patterns of de facto segregation and unequal academic achievement, San Miguel concludes, but it has played a key role in expanding opportunities. The actions he describes have expanded, extended, and diversified the historic struggle for Mexican American education.

GUADALUPE SAN MIGUEL JR., a professor of history at the University of Houston, is a past president of the National Association for Chicana and Chicano Studies. He is the author of three books published by Texas A&M University Press: Brown, Not White: School

“When I think of Reyes Cardenas and his place in Chicano letters, my mind immediately places him alongside another great, but little known, Chicano artist, folk singer Sixto “Sugar Man” Rodriguez. Despite the keen mastery of their respective art forms, both have been neglected - up to now - by the general American public and, sadly, by their own ethnic community. This may be because both are humble human beings who, unlike many of their colleagues, do not self-promote, preferring instead to let their art speak for itself. And in both cases, their art speaks in a thunderous voice that demands our attention.”

Organized mostly in chronological order, this book is a 40-year retrospective of Reyes Cárdenas’ life and work written from 1970-2010.

The book is divided into the following 11 sections: Selections from Chicano Territory (1970); Los Pachucos y La Flying Saucer (1975, the only novella in this anthology, originally published in Caracol magazine); Selections from Anti-Bicicleta Haiku (1976); Selections from Survivors of the Chicano Titanic (1981); Elegy for John Lennon (1982); Selections from I Was Never a Militant Chicano (1986); Homage to Robinson (2008); The Collected Poems of Artemio Sánchez (2009); Meeting Mr. Incognito (2010); Poems from chicanopoet.blogspot.com (2004-2010); and From Aztlan to the Moons of Mars: A Chicano Verse Novela (2010). Of the eleven sections, five are selections from previous publications, and six are new, never before published collections of poetry. This book also features cover artwork and 11 original black and white title-page illustrations for each section by San Antonio artist, L.A. David; plus, an introductory essay on Reyes’ work by noted Chicano literary critic, Associate Professor of English, and Director of the Mexican-American Studies Center at Texas Lutheran University, Juan Rodríguez.

“An epic of Chicano existence in the last half of the 20th century and the first decade of the Reyes Cárdenas’ work boldly depicts the outrageous ironies and wildly brutal truths of our humanity.”

ABOUT Mosquitos

Mosquitos are members of a family of nematocid flies: the Culicidae (from the Latin culex, genitive culicis meaning "midge" or "gnat").

The word mosquito (formed by mosca and diminutive ito) is from the Spanish or Portuguese for "little fly". Superficially, mosquitoes resemble crane flies (family Tipulidae) and chironomid flies (family Chironomidae);

The females of many species of mosquitoes are blood eating pests and dangerous vectors of diseases, whereas members of the similar-looking Chironomidae and Tipulidae are not.

Some species attack people in houses, and others prefer to attack people walking in forests. Accordingly, in managing public health, knowing which species, even which strains, of mosquitoes with which one is dealing is important.

Over 3,500 species of mosquitoes have already been described from various parts of the world. What is most interesting about mosquitos is that they do actually "bite." They do not have teeth and therefore are incapable of "biting."

What they do that causes pain is insert their needle like nose into your skin. Mosquito "bites" itch because you have a slight allergic reaction to the saliva the mosquito injected into your body before she bit you. The female mosquito's main source of food is the blood of her victims; therefore, most mosquitoes feed off of several different donors throughout the day. Though mosquitoes can transmit serious viruses, most bites cause nothing more than minor irritation.

An Interview with

Musico, Profesor, Poet, Founder

La Voz: You just finished up the 32nd Annual Tejano Conjunto Festival. When you look back, what memories come to mind?

Juan Tejeda: The Tejano Conjunto Festival always produces memorable moments for me, and I hope for all of the people attending. Some of those moments from this past festival include Juanito Castillo's one-man experimental jazz set at the New Directions in Conjunto Music night on Thursday; the reunion of Los Hermanos Serrata y Los Buenos on Friday night and their amazing performance; 7-year-old accordion student from Teatro de Artes de Juan Seguin, Nathan Alzalde's performance of a polka medley during the student recital on Saturday; the return of Los Hermanos Farias to the Conjunto Festival after a 14 year absence; the emotional induction of Jesus "Chucho" Perales into the Conjunto Music Hall of Fame; and the reunion and performance of Los Paisanos de Chalito Johnson.

La Voz: Share with our readers where the idea of a conjunto festival came from?

Juan Tejeda: Ben King, a music writer for the San Antonio Express-News, contacted me in 1980 when I had just begun working with the Guadalupe Cultural Arts Center to see if I would work with him in producing a Conjunto Festival. We did two concerts, one at the Sunken Garden in Brackenridge Park and one at the Arneson River Theatre in 1981. I hired Valerio Longoria y su Conjunto, Santiago Jiménez Jr. y su Conjunto, Los Paisanos de Chalito Johnson, and my band, Conjunto Aztlan.

To me, this first event seemed just like two concerts instead of a festival, so in 1982 the Guadalupe and I produced the first Tejano Conjunto Festival en San Antonio with the goals of preserving and promoting conjunto music; presenting the best in conjunto music; honoring those conjunto pioneers who had contributed profoundly to the genre; and fostering a better understanding and appreciation of conjunto music.

In support of these goals we began the poster contest, Conjunto Music Hall of Fame, accordion and bajo sexto classes and the accordion students recital, and the program magazine that included articles on conjunto music. That first year of the Tejano Conjunto Festival in 1982 featured 18 bands over three days at the Market Square, Mission County Park and Rosedale Park. It was very successful from the beginning. That was the first time I worked with such conjunto greats as Narciso Martínez, Santiago Jiménez Sr., Tony De la Rosa, Esteban Jordán and others.

La Voz: Do a lot of people know that you began playing the accordion when you were very young?

Juan Tejeda: I think that a lot of people still don't know that I play the button accordion and have my own band, Conjunto Aztlan. I actually learned the accordion from Santiago Jiménez Jr. when I was nine years old. My father, Francisco Mariano Tejeda, loved conjunto music and wanted one of his sons to learn how to play the accordion. Santiago Jr. charged my dad $3.00 for every tune I learned. Later, when I was 11-12 years old, I played drums with Santiago Jiménez Jr. y su Conjunto.

La Voz: Tell us about what you are doing with conjunto music at Palo Alto College.

Juan Tejeda: I was hired over eleven years ago at Palo Alto College here in San Antonio to begin the first Conjunto Music Program at the college/university level in the nation.

From the beginning of the program, we implemented private button accordion and bajo sexto classes and a Conjunto Ensemble course. We began the first conjunto student ensemble at Palo Alto College that the students named Conjunto Palo Alto. We have developed the Valerio Longoria Memorial Scholarship Fund for conjunto students at the college; and have produced and recorded two CD's of the Conjunto Palo Alto. We've hosted two conferences on the teaching of conjunto music at the college; and I worked on the statewide committee to create and develop a Field of Study in Mexican-American Studies, and Palo Alto College now offers an Associate of Arts degree in Mexican-American Studies.

I teach courses in the Button Accordion, Conjunto Ensemble, Music Appreciation and Mexican-American Fine Arts Appreciation. The Conjunto Palo Alto performs at various college and local events, including PACFest and the Tejano Conjunto Festival.

"I think that a lot of people still don't know that I play the button accordion and have my . . ."

La Voz: Some people have become increasingly critical of conjunto music and say that one of the things that is missing is innovation. ¿Que dices tu?

Juan Tejeda: Conjunto music has become a tradition. It is the traditional music of the Chicano, or Texas-Mexican, people, which is now over 100 years old. One of the hallmarks of a musical tradition is that a standard ensemble and style of music develops, as well as a repertoire.

A lot of conjunto music is the continuation of this traditional ensemble, style and repertoire. So, in this sense, most of the conjuntos out there are maintaining the tradition and not doing anything different, and in "A lot of conjunto music is the continuation of this traditional ensemble, style and repertoire."

Juan Tejeda

of the Tejano Conjunto Festival

many ways, this is what the Chicano people, and the conjunto audience, want. However, there are always going to be those young “conjunto guns” out there who are pushing the limits of conjunto music and experimenting, just like Esteban Jordán did when he integrated blues, rock, jazz, salsa, etc., into conjunto music back in the 60s.

There are some very talented conjunto musicians out there that are doing some very innovative things, such as the jazzy accordion stylings of Juanito Castillo; A.J. Castillo and his cumbia conjunto/orquesta fusion; the raucous conjunto punk sound and original songs of Alvaro Del Norte and Piñata Protest; the reggae-cumbia-rock-rap-poetry music of Los Nahuatlitos; the country-rockabilly-conjunto hybrid music of Nick Gaitán and the Umbrella Man; and the list goes on.

And women are making headways into the genre. Check out the 17-year-old Crystal García who plays bajo sexto and sings with Crystal-n-Crew; or La Marisoul who sings with the great accordion fusion band out of Califas, La Santa Cecilia. Conjunto music is an original American musical ensemble and style of music that we, as Tejanos, created. It was born out of this fusion and innovation, and will continue as such.

La Voz: In addition to your work at Palo Alto College, you and several others perform as Conjunto Aztlan. In fact, if I remember correctly, I read somewhere that your group was the first conjunto to ever perform at Harvard University. What is the latest with Conjunto Aztlan?

Juan Tejeda: The Conjunto Aztlan started out as a conjunto del movimiento chicano, and is still a conjunto del movimiento chicano. We did perform at Harvard back in about 1977 when the Harvard Chicano Law Students Association flew us up there to perform at one of their events. That was a trip.

Conjunto Aztlan is still performing, though we're not one of those conjuntos that perform every weekend. We take on special gigs. We'll be performing on July 27 up in Austin with the muralist camarada, Raul Valdez, at a Flor y Canto at the Mexican-American Cultural Center, I believe; and we'll be performing on October 19 at the Narciso Martínez Cultural Arts Center's Conjunto Festival in San Benito.

There's a couple of other performances we're lining up and there's been talk about getting into the studio to record our third CD. By the way, our first two CD's, Conjunto Aztlan and From Aztlan with Love, are now available for download on iTunes.

La Voz: Many people know you as a musician, teacher, poet and college professor. Share with our readers something about you that most people do not know.

Juan Tejeda: I'm an ex-jefe segundo del grupo Xinachtli, grupo de danza Azteca de los concheros; and the proud father of Zitlalli Aztlan Libre, Juan Francisco Tonatiah and Maya Quetzalli.

La Voz: Talk to us about your publishing house.

Juan Tejeda: My wife, Anisa Onofre, and I began Aztlan Libre Press about two-and-a-half years ago. We're an independent publishing house based out of San Antonio, Texas that is dedicated to the promotion, publication and free expression of Xicana/o literature and art. We have published 6 books so far, including alurista's tenth book of poetry, Tunaluna, and the Aztec Calendar Coloring Book, and we're working on three others.

Our latest publication is Reyes Cárdenas Chicano Poet 1970-2010, a forty year retrospective of Reyes' poetry with cover art and 11 original black and white illustrations by L.A. David. 'Ta pesado el Reyes. Ya gotta read this book which includes his classic novella from 1975, Los Pachucos y La Flying Saucer. For more info on Aztlan Libre Press, or to check out all of our publications, go to our website at www.aztlanlibrepress.com

La Voz: Ok, now some easy questions: Favorite color? Last book read? Favorite San Antonio restaurant?

Juan Tejeda: Turquoise. Smoking Mirror Blues by Ernest Hogan. Patty's on Hackberry St. on the southside for their chingón breakfasts and tortillas.

La Voz: In ten years, Juan Tejeda will be ?

Juan Tejeda: Still here, I hope. Retired. Enjoying Maya Quetzalli and her high school years. Piqueteándole al acordeón un poco y grabando; escribiendo; still publishing libros with Aztlan Libre Press and hopefully we'll at least have a couple of million-sellers by then (as long as we're dreaming, que no, carnal?); trabajando y haciendo lo posible to help bring a little sanity, justicia, healing, paz y amor into this war-torn world. Still praying and giving thanks, como mi amá, and celebrating her 100th birthday.

The Great Texas Mosquito Festival: Celebrating the Bloodsuckers

By: Christina Solis Morales

Thirty-three years ago, a strange new tradition was born in a small town in Brazoria County. The Great Texas Mosquito Festival was celebrated for the first time in 1980. ¿Que? Who in their right mind even likes the little bloodsuckers . . . much less celebrates them? Some people will turn anything into a reason to party. Those people live in Clute, Texas.

At the festival you will find a Mosquito Chase, Skeeter Beater Baby Crawling Contest, and a Mosquito Calling Contest, for starts. There is Rockin' Rick's Strolling Guitar Cart that roams the festival grounds, carnival rides, a petting zoo, and what seems like a million things for the kids to do. But, there are also live country bands, a BBQ and Fajita cook-off, horseshoe pitching and plenty to drink. Afterall, it is partially sponsored by Del Papa Distributing Company, the Budweiser people. So you have a mix of the truly unique, the kid friendly and the adult friendly. There is even a senior citizen's only Bingo. Overall, if your age is between one and one-hundred, Clute is the place to be on Thursday, July 25th through Saturday, July 27th.

Somewhere in between the haystack dive and the Giant Mosquito named Willie-Man-Chew, there is a line-up of musicians that will rock you into the next day. Headliners like Sunny Sweeney and Cory Morrow play this year. But, there are six other country music bands to choose from over the course of the festival. You couldn't buy concert tickets for what you pay as admission. Yes, this is a honky-tonk kind of thing. Every aspect of this festival makes for something interesting to do or watch. If for some reason, there just isn't enough for you to do. Well, from the park, the beach is about ten miles away.

La Voz spoke to Dana Pomerence, of the Parks and Recreation Department of the City of Clute, and she was particularly excited about one of this year's new attractions. It is called Reelz Ink and is a program that invites children to interact during a two-hour production by incorporating music, contests, and more into the show. If the kids aren't tired after two hours of interactive play, they can hop on the carnival rides. Either way, with all this activity happening here in Brazoria County, why would you go anywhere else?

This writer remembers the first year she lived in Clute. I could hear the music from inside my home, even though I live about two miles away. So, I pulled out a couple of folding chairs, got some cold drinks, and invited my husband to join me. The music was good, the heat of the day had subsided, and the stars formed a lovely night canvas overhead. I knew then that Clute may have an itty-bitty country feel to it, but people here knew how to put together a big-city Fiesta. Lucky for us, there was still a day's worth of the Great Texas Mosquito Festival to enjoy the next day. It was worth putting aside everything for just a little while. Summer is the season of festivals here in Texas and this year's cover of Texas Highways Events Calendar has a Giant Mosquito on its cover-Willie Man-Chew.

Tripadvisor.com editors actually named the festival "Wackiest Summer Event" in 2012. Austin may be the capital of weird in Texas; But Clute is the capital of wacky, at least that's what the buzzzzz around town says. If you want more information on this festival, you can go to www.mosquitofestival.com or call 979-265-8392.

SOCIAL SECURITY IS NOT ENOUGH

by Amy Casso, senior policy analyst,
La Fe Policy Research and Education Center

Many people work their entire lives and look forward to taking it easy with the help of Social Security, once they retire.

Josie Saucedo is a 78-year-old retired phone operator who worked for AT&T for 22 years. She is fortunate to have a small pension from AT&T, and both she and her husband receive Social Security benefits, but that still is not enough to make ends meet.

Although he's a few years younger than her, Saucedo's husband has a myriad of health issues.

"Joe had his stroke a little over two years ago," she recalls. "It took four months of therapy, three times a week. He also had a bout of thyroid cancer and leukemia, is diabetic, has sleep apnea, and a pacemaker. Our medications eat us up."

"My plan was to retire when I was at the right age, but I cut my toe off by early retirement, due to my trigeminal neuralgia," she explains. "It's tight. We have good children, but we don't want to be a burden."

Josie and Joe benefit from local community resources. Carlos Gonzalez, an animador (community facilitator) with the Community Engaged Nutrition Action (CENA) program, has assisted the Saucedo's on a number of occasions by providing them with a listing of resources and steering them to community services. "This couple is a perfect example of those who have given their whole life to the economy and work force. But still, some programs are out of their reach when they shouldn't be," says Gonzalez.

Gonzalez guided the Saucedos through the San Antonio Food Bank process, a one-stop-shop, to see if they qualified for food stamps, Medicaid and other benefits.

Food is a major concern to Gonzalez and those he counsels as part of CENA. A survey by CENA program coordinators at La Fe Policy Research and Education Center confirmed that one in four Latinos over the age of 50 living in San Antonio's west side had to skip a meal due to financial constraints.

The goal of the CENA program is to decrease the number of Mexican-American seniors who are food insecure through a leadership based Animador peer-to-peer service navigator and organizing change model. "The issue of having to choose between food or medicine is common," said Gonzalez. I also frequently hear about other challenges they face paying bills or home repairs that are impacted by financial constraints."

In fact, Gonzalez helped the Saucedos get a fan for their house. Although the rental unit has central air, they can't afford to use it. Gonzalez continues to advocate for the couple in a variety of areas.

"I'm very very grateful to the community services," added Saucedo. "I go every week for bread and every month for food. As little as it is, nos ayuda."

"Let me tell you squarely. I love bacon, but I can't afford it. Medication is what eats up our budget that should go to nutrition. We cannot buy name brands. We buy all our produce at the dollar store. I count portions para que me alcance."

Saucedo is hopeful about the Affordable Care Act. She also believes the living wage should increase. When people talk about cutting social services and suggest everyone fend for themselves, she gets angry. "When they say, 'those people are takers,' I say bull corn. They can fly a kite. Stop to think, and listen why they are takers."

PROCLAME SU INDEPENDENCIA CON UNA CUENTA DE my SOCIAL SECURITY

Por Jose M Olivero
Especialista de relaciones públicas del
Seguro Social en Oklahoma City

EL Día de la Independencia de los Estados Unidos es la premisa apropiada para proclamar su independencia de tener que lidiar con las congestiones de tráfico vehicular, las largas filas en las oficinas llenas de gente. ¡Independícese tomando control de sus transacciones de Seguro Social!

El sitio de Internet del Seguro Social está a su disposición en dondequiera que usted se encuentre y a cualquier hora del día. Lleve a cabo sus transacciones de Seguro Social, a su mayor conveniencia.

Simplemente visite la página de Internet www.segurosocial.gov/espanol/micuenta para crear una cuenta en «my Social Security» y luego podrá llevar a cabo sus transacciones de Seguro Social de la manera más fácil, rápida y conveniente.

A penas ya nos quedan unos seis meses del 2013 y hasta el momento, más de seis millones de personas han creado una cuenta en «my Social Security». Estas personas usan la cuenta para acceder con facilidad a información y servicios — evitándose la necesidad de visitar la oficina personalmente o tener que llamar. ¡Eso sí es independencia!

La cantidad de cosas que puede hacer usando su cuenta por Internet es tan variada como lo que ponga en la parrilla cuando celebre la independencia de los Estados Unidos. Por ejemplo, con su cuenta de «my Social Security» usted puede generar, imprimir y guardar una copia de su «Social Security Statement» (Estado de cuenta de Seguro Social) y así verificar las cantidades de su registro de ganancias, generar cálculos aproximados de la cantidad de sus futuros beneficios por jubilación, incapacidad, beneficios para sobrevivientes y los demás beneficios a los que su familia posiblemente tenga derecho a recibir.

Si ya está recibiendo los beneficios de Seguro Social, no se quede atrás. Hemos agregado varios servicios la cuenta de «my Social Security» para las personas que ya reciben los beneficios; ya puede crear y usar su cuenta para ver, guardar e imprimir una carta de verificación de beneficios, verificar la información de sus pagos de los beneficios y hasta puede cambiar sus dirección y número de teléfono directamente en nuestros registros. También puede establecer el servicio de depósito directo o cambiar la información de éste. Todo esto sin que tenga que salir de su casa.

Así que sea que ya recibe los beneficios de Seguro Social o que esté planificando para ese glorioso día en un futuro no lejano, puede obtener acceso a toda su información de Seguro Social al crear una cuenta de «my Social Security». Simplemente vaya a www.segurosocial.gov/espanol/myaccount.

Antes de que encienda la parrilla para asar su carne favorita o antes de que se siente cómodo a disfrutar de los fuegos artificiales mientras celebra el Día de la Independencia de los Estados Unidos, asegúrese de proclamar su independencia personal visitando el sitio de Internet www.segurosocial.gov. Después, ¡feliz Día de la Independencia!

earnings record and see estimates of the retirement, disability, and survivor benefits you and your family may be able to receive.

If you are already receiving benefits, you can join the parade. You also can start or change your direct deposit information. You can do this all from the comfort of your home.

Whether you are currently getting Social Security benefits, or you are planning for that day in the future when you do, you can easily access all your important Social Security information by creating a my Social Security account. Just visit www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount.
